FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Jay C. Mulrean, Acting Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The employment-based immigrant visa petition was denied by the Director, Vermont Service Center, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The petitioner is an environmental testing laboratory. It seeks to classify the beneficiary as an outstanding researcher pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(B) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(1)(B). The petitioner seeks to employ the beneficiary permanently in the United States as a supervisor of liquid and gas chromatography laboratories. The director determined that the petitioner had not established that the beneficiary is recognized internationally as outstanding in her academic field, as required for classification as an outstanding researcher.

On the Form I-290B Notice of Appeal, filed on August 9, 1999, the petitioner indicated that a brief would be forthcoming within thirty days. To date, nearly eighteen months later, careful review of the record reveals no subsequent submission; all other documentation in the record predates the issuance of the notice of decision.

The statement on the appeal form reads simply "[w]e believe that overwhelming evidence was submitted documenting that [the beneficiary] is clearly an outstanding researcher." This is a general statement which makes no specific allegation of error. The bare assertion that the director should have approved the petition is not sufficient basis for a substantive appeal.

8 C.F.R. 103.3(a)(1)(v) states, in pertinent part:

An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

Inasmuch as the petitioner has failed to identify specifically an erroneous conclusion of law or a statement of fact as a basis for the appeal, the appeal must be summarily dismissed.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
